attended by a child did the work of a number of skilled workmen. Of course child labor is much cheaper than adult labor, and as it required little strength place of men. In the last ten years the employment of women and children their homes and the children deprived of schooling. It signifies that men must compete with child labor in nearly every line of industry. It means cheaper production and more profits for the manufacturer, because the cheaper an article can be produced the more profit there is in it for the capitalist. The indisputable fact that the very blood and tissues of fragile women and handfull of society vampires, finds no place in the category of capitalistic

Prior to 1870 the evil influences of this venal system of child and woman labor were first made visible in the textile factories. About this time there was a great stir among the proprietors of all factories where child labor could be substituted for man labor. These wily magnates, ever ready to debase and enslave the toiling masses to secure greater dividends, were quick to perceive that a child of ten years could run a stamp and die machine as well as a skilled mechanic. Between 1870 and 1880 child and woman labor increased three fold. Where we had one woman or child in the factories in 1870 we now have 180. About this time the steam laundry sprung into existence, which drew thousands of women from their homes to toil in this damnable sweatshop, where tuberculosis is bred wholesale and the working hours are only gauged by the amount of work on hand. In these laundries the little children become expert at "marking" and they are chiefly employed at this, but I have frequently found them working at huge mangles and other dangerous machines used in the steam laundries. The indifferent observer will classify "marking" as "light and easy," but sorting solid linen on its way to washing machines is no work for a child. Again there is danger from infection, and the danger is greater in the case of a child exhausted by long hours in the steam and heat than in the case of anadult.

What the Factory Reports Reveal.

The wages of men clerks have been brought down as a result of this child labor. Thousands of children are now working in the department stores as well as in the factories and mines. Their hours are from nine to fourteen a day and their wages range from $2.50 to $6.00 a week. Men cannot work for what a woman or a child receives, and it is thus they become parasites on the community, wandering from place to place constantly seeking a po sition that will give them a decent living, and in many cases developing into criminals as a result of their economic conditions. But the most scathing comment that could be made upon the development of child and woman labor is revealed in the factory reports of the various states. Ten years ago the number of laundresses employed was $15,000, and it would be a very conservative estimate to place this number now at 300,000. Those employed in tobacco, shoe, paper, rubber, hat, corset, printing and shirt factories will now number more than 200,000. In Pennsylvania alone there are now more than 125,000 children toiling for their daily bread. The capitalists have taken a decided liking to these little child slaves as you will observe by the mar velous increase in child labor in the last 30 years. The number of children at work from ten to fifteen years of age was, in 1870, the goodly figure of 739,164. In 1880 these figures climbed to 1,118,356; in 1890 the soared to 1,809,039, and today it would not be a counterfeit assertion to say that in round numbers there are 3,000,000 children working in the trade industries in the United States. This does not include those children employed in rural pursuits, which would easily swell these figures to 6,000,000!

They work like beavers, trying to keep pace with their to the prevalence of child and woman labor in this country. One of the sturdy elders, and even competing with their white-haired parents who most important points in the evolution of the proletarian of today was that as labor-saving machinery came into use the ranks of the unemployed were little imps, for that is what they reminded me of with quissical, blackened constantly increased. Skilled labor commanded a higher wage than unfaces and dishevelled hair, handling dangerous explosives, operating heavy skilled, but with the improvement of machinery skilled labor was practically turn tables and distributing cars to the miners' rooms. I talked with many dispensed with. The skill was transferred to the machine, and a machine of these child slaves and they all declared they had never been to school, nor could they read and write. In the mills and factories the children and women are no better treated, they toll on half-naked at tasks that crush out or skill to operate the new machines women and children soon took the the lives of thousands. In these mills I found little girls, ranging in years from eight to fifteen, that could neither read nor write and never had a day has increased at an astonishing rate. This means that women are taken from of schooling in their lives. They work as many hours as grown-up men, all day in the heat, oil and dust, and amid a veritable forest of flying belts, pulleys and wheels. Their baby faces look pinched and haggard for their years, and the dirt and soot that settles in their hair and on their faces make them look more like strange demons than human beings. Besides working like slaves, these girls are in constant danger from running machinery. tender children are congealed into commodities, for the enrichment of a I have seen them cleaning up oil drippings around a massive fly-wheel buzzing at the rate of a thousand revolutions a minute, but no precaution is taken by the indifferent mill-owners and the more brutal managers. These children are some of the coming monthers and fathers of this nation. What can we expect of them and their children? Deprived of the fostering care of a mother and father and the refining influences of a cheerful home and liberal education at the time it is most needed, and plunged into the sweat shop or mine before they have even to lisp the evening prayer, is it to be wondered at that these toiling urchins develop into defectives, degenerates and criminals? This is the most heinous crime that the capitalists can commit upon the unsophisticated childhood of America. It is a curse on posterity blacker than the brand of Cain, that will besmirch the pages of the life of this Republic throughout the tide of time! Oh, what a sweet, human (?) system of government we have! It is enough to make the angels weep and make Satan himself turn to purple with envy. We have a law preventing cruelty to dumb animals, but these little girl and boy slaves are not even considered to be as good as beasts of burden, let alone have any redress in a court of equity. The sweatshop or factory is their home and school: the coal breaker or mine is their living tomb!

In the Filthy Stockyards of Chicago.
But there are many chapters from life's other side when it comes to espousing the long neglected cause of these toiling children, and these chapters can only be revealed to the thoughtful student of economics and the conscientious, observant traveler. In the filthy stockyards of Chicago, there are 1,500 women and children employed. Some of these children are boys who cut up the animals as soon as the hide is removed: little butchers performing the most revolting part of the labor at the stockyards. These children stand ankle-deep in water used for flooding the floor for the purpose of carrying off the refuse into the drains. The air they breathe is worse than that of the vilest Chinese underground opium den in San Francisco, and their work is the most brutalizing that could be devised. Nearby are boys cutting bones with an unguarded buzz-saw within fifty feet of the "drying racks" where skulls and horns are scorching over a flame. I have stood beside the sulphuric crater of Mount Vesuvius and for a few moments breathed its foul 32, 48, 110. Total, 586. Breacliff, Soc. fumes, but its suffocating gases are like the fragrance of roses compared with the stifling, pungent odors that issue from a Chicago slaughter house. But how is it possible for these frightful conditions to exist? How does it come that there are 4,000,000 women in the United States employed outside of the home? Between the years of 1875 and 1885 the number of women working outside the home increased 64 per cent. Twenty years ago there were little more than a million (1,118,356) children working for paid toil Martin, Soc. Lab., 56. #### SOCIALISM IN IDAHO. A Study and a Warning and a Condition to be Met.

Last December the National Secretary of the Socialist party issued a circular letter telling of the somewhat disorganized state of the Socialist movement in Idaho and announced that National Organizer Wilkins would be sent to Idaho about Feb. 1 to invesent to Idaho about Feb. 1, to inves tigate the situation.

Comrade Wilkins has not yet visited the northern part of the state, and the following statement of conditions the following statement of conditions existing there written by G. Weston Wrigley, former secretary of the Ontario Socialist party, and editor of the Canadian Socialist, will be found of interest. Comrade Wrigley was engaged in newspaper work in the Coeur d'Alene district during January and Westers and was a member of and February, and was a member of Local Wallace, the only Socialist or-ganization in that district which shows signs of activity. He writes:

"Arriving in Idaho from British Columbia just after the announcement was made of the proposed visit of Organizer Wilkins and locating in the Coeur d'Alenes, one of the historic bat-tlefields of the Western Labor move-ment, I naturally expected to find a clear-cut revolutionary movement in the district at least. In the southern part of the state the evolution from popu-lism into Socialism would account for a loose organization where dues-pay-ing, etc., was considered unnecessary, but the twelve years labor war in the Coeur d'Alenes described in Job Har-riman's "Class War in Idaho" should have resulted in the organization of an uncompromising body of revolutionary

He was a candi-date on the Socialist party ticket in cent election along with some meaning Socialists and some oth ers who are now fugitives from justice. Rockefeller's Federal Mining Company, controlling the mining and mer-cantile interests of the district, de-sired to carry the county election by splitting the working class vote amongst the various parties opposing the ultra-capitalist Republicans and with their tools in the Socialist party it was an easy matter to put up a Socialist ticket which would draw some votes and, at the same time cast discredit upon Socialism. From a Socialist standpoint it is probably preferable to have the Republicans in power, they being more in line with the development of capitalism than the hypocritical and reactionary Democrats, but this should not be accomplished by greasing the palms of unworthies in the Socialist party.

An occasional San Francisco correspondent says:

I notice in Local San Francisco correspondent sa with their tools in the Socialist party

De-spite numerous objections made by the spite numerous objections made by the secretary, a special meeting was called and it was proven that Dr. Magee had accepted the office of county physician under the Republican administration, and refused to attend any Socialist Party is to convert a majority of the people to our political belief—which requires the elimination of the charges. In private conversation he denied the class struggle and said he considered universal brotherhood to be the fundamental principle upon which the Socialist movement is based, contending also that Mrs. Tingley's theosophical colony in California is doing more for Socialism than the organized Socialist party. Despite the knowledge of these facts Local Wallace tabled the motion to expel Dr. Magee, the denied the class struggle and said he considered universal brotherhood to be the fundamental principle upon which the Socialist movement is based, contending also that Mrs. Tingley's theosophical colony in California is doing more for Socialism than the organized Socialist party. Despite the knowledge of these facts Local Wallace tabled the motion to expel Dr. Magee, the motion to lay on the table being made by Organizer Casey who was a strike breaker in the miners' union trouble at Rossland, B. C., and who admits that Dr. Magee has secured him several jobs in Rockefeller's mines. Casey attended Mills' school for a term and in an address before Local Wallace he strongly combatted the point that from a Socialist standpoint there are only two classes in society. Action, composed mainly of working class in its struggle for economic freedom from capitalistic domination and exploitation, composed mainly of working are only two classes in society. According to his teaching the middle class must be considered equally with the working class.

Secretary Stache also strenuously opposed the motion to expel Dr. Magee claiming that he was a good party member and is always willing to contribute a few dollars when the local needed it. Comrade Stache admitted that in securing Magee's application for membership, he had informed the doctor that he need not attend any meetings, and was at liberty to accept office under the Republicans. Some old members had dropped out on learning so by economic conditions; the Capital Republicans are some conventions, but is compelled to do members had dropped out on learning so workers and ablest members and outcome themselves would be barred from rendering our tribute a few dollars when the local should be barred from rendering our tribute a few dollars when the local should be barred from rendering our tribute a few dollars when the local should be barred from rendering our tribute a few dollars when the local needed it. Comrade Stache admitted that in securing Magee's application of its own free will choose Sunday as the day to carry on agitation or business meetings, entertainments and conventions be held on a convention be held on a con

Dr. Magee is a slick Republican politician who worked the Populist Sterns National Committeeman for Nebraska. Spotter Shaw, in defending his vote against Magee's expulsion, stated that he and others were forced to vote as they did, as the doctor could make things unpleasant for them if they had done otherwise.

Wallace is a city surrounded by mining camps, and in Burke, Mullan and Wardner earnest Socialist workers were found, they being the nucleus of a strong organization if the contro of Local Wallace could be placed in the hands of the revolutionary Social-ists. In Mullan, however, no progress can be made until the barroom loafer and Magee spotter named Fred Levy, is gotten rid of. He wears a Socialist party button and makes a specialty of "earning" beer money by collecting "membership fees" of $1 from persons who are poorly informed regarding the workings of the Socialist party.

workings of the Socialist party.

Enough has probably been written to show the need of Organizer Wilkins of the National Convention and be it in this district. It would be much bet- further ter to have no Socialist organization at all for a time than to have such a local as exists in Wallace. If Organ-izer Wilkins can remain long enough in the district to clean out the spot-ters and make uncompromising Social-ists of the secretary and other dupes his work will be of great value to the party. While it seems impossible for many of the Irish "old timers" to ad-vance beyond Tammany Democracy and trades unionism, and it is difficult to reach the Missourians (imported as strike breakers after the 1899 trouble), and the Swedes and Finlanders, there is enough material at hand to build up a strong revolutionary So-cialist party. The miners' unions are financially strong and their paper, the Idaho State Tribune, is now edited by ex-Lieutenant Governor Coates, of Colorado, who is in a position to be of great assistance to the Socialist move-

A handful of clean-cut Socialists properly organized would be better than a large body of befuddled comploying miners prevents the unions than a large body of befuddled comfrom displaying activity. And third, that the Socialist party has the reputation of being a Republican side-trustworthy comrades for such imshow, investigation producing good grounds for this belief, the local in would be better than a long ticket. Wallace having strike breakers, spot-made up of uncertain material. Let ters and Republican office holders on the Socialist party be clean and clearits membership roll and being concut, and there will be no excuse for fusion or the formation of labor parties—as is being proposed in Colorado and Idaho at present. It is the miners' own funeral if they elect to fry in their own fat after Socialist agitators point out the only way for the workers to emancipate themselves. Realizing, however, the necessity of Socialists proving themselves worthy of confidence the writer performs the duty of telling the unpleasant truths regarding the Socialist organization in the Coeur d'Alenes. All power to Or-ganizer Wilkins in his work.

Echoes From John W. Brown's Talk

Comrades of Washington-Of the Comrades of Washington—Of the many speakers who have graced our state and goaded on our Socialists to a full sense of duty and responsibility to their class—the proletariat; none have equaled him in "taking" with the workers themselves, and few if any have exceeded him in any capacity. Standing six feet four in his stockings—long-armed and warm-hearted as Lincoln—with a -like fund of stories the most applicable, telling and "pat," when those long arms and great palms are extended they appear lengthy enough to enfold the world! His looks "give him dead away" as a worker—terribly in earnest; talking to his co-laborers in simple words that none can misunderstand, and his audience is with him from start to finish, attentive and sympathetic.

No abuse of individuals casses him for "You Fellows Are Wooly!

showing as it does an intimate acquaintance with the "class struggle" hrough his brush against the many aproned sons of mechanical life.

Only a brief resume of the feast of ood things can be attempted at this time.

His opening argument was that there can be but one kind of Socialism, that which stands for the utter abolition of all capitalistic institutions and methods and the substitution therefor of the co-operative Commonwealth; the collective ownership of all means of production and distribution, that the people must own and control the means by which they live.

Every economic struggle is a political struggle, and every political struggle has behind it an economic struggle. All revolutions of the past have been brought about by changed economic conditions. sistence.
Third—So long as the present or ganization of industry remains the cap italist class will monopolize the ma chines of production and will appro-priate, through the wage system, the wealth created by the working class. Fourth—This appropriation of la-bor's wealth by the capitalists is so complete that it enables them to live in luxury and idleness.

Fifth—As a necessary consequence of this exploitation of the laborers by the capitalists—this expropriation of all property out of the hands of the toilers into the private ownership of the holders of capital, there is an inevitable war between the interests of the working class on the one hand and the interests of the capitalist class on the other. Sixth—This class struggle between the wealth-makers and the wealth takers will endure so long as our present system of production for profit continues. Seventh—In this conflict between the workers and the capitalists, labor is disarmed on the economic side, all the instruments of producing and distributing wealth being owned and controlled by holders of capital. Eighth—There is only one weapon with which the working class can suc-cessfully oppose the capitalist class— and that is the ballot. Ninth—This fact demands as an inevitable conclusion the organization of the working class into a political party that shall be, everywhere and always, distinct from and opposed to every political party not founded entirely upon the interests of the working class. The Socialist Party is organ-of this state in such a manner as to promote the interests of the working class.

Twelfth—In conclusion, we appeal to all working men to study the prin-ciples of Socialism, to vote with their class at all elections until they overthrow the power of capitalism abolish industrial classes in society, ter-minate forever the class struggle and inaugurate the co-operative common wealth based upon this fundamental principle of justice:

question about party organ left to the state central committee to act on. The

"Seattle platform" was unanimously adopted which speaks well for Oregon Socialists. A resolution that hereafter no Socialist, who has not for at least one year been affiliated with the party would be eligible for nomination or the party's ticket was adopted.

Enclosed you will find clippings from a Hearst newspaper. It really dared to print the platform.
