CHILD LADUS AND CURE.

Child Labor Inspectors Tell Their Experience — Say Public Press Is Cowardly-Greed the Incentive for Working Children.

Child labor and the enforcement of the child labor law was the subject discussed at the meeting of the Commonwealth Club last Friday night. The speakers were Mrs. Florence Kelley of the Consumers' League and Edgar J. Davis, chief factory inspector of child labor in Ulinois. Mrs. Kelley was the first speaker. She compared the laws of New York State with those of Illinois. She stated that while there was not so much difference in the laws in the two States, that New York had provided a much more efficient method of enforcing to bring about.

What a blot it is upon present day human society, that with all our control over the forces of nature, "success in life" only comes to those who smother all human feelings and ruthlessly grind the souls and bodies of helpless little children into profits and dividends.

What an indictment against the daily press, "that great engine of progress and years of age and under 16.

Mrs. Kelley has spent twenty years endeavoring to protect the children of this country from the evil results of early child slavery. She told the members of the Commonwealth Club that while things were far from perfect, that great improvement had been made in the child labor laws and also in the method of enforcing them.

of enforcing them.

Mrs. Kelley thinks that no child should be permitted to go to work under 16 years of age without a certificate from a strict board of health and educational

While Mrs. Kelley was telling how the board of health examiner did his work in New York there was a smile crept over the faces of many of those present. Then there was whispering and bending of heads and more smiling. What was it all about? Well, it was like this Mrs. Keiley was explaining the New York method of examining applicants for qualification to go to work. She told how the first thing the health officer did when a child applied for permission to go to work was to stand the child against the wall and ascertain if it was of the required height; if it wasn't, the speak-While Mrs. Kelley was telling how the mired height; if it wasn't, the speak-said, that settled it; the child must back to school. Now, what was there go back to school. Now, what was there about this to make the serious, scientific and philosophic members of the Commonwealth Club smile? You say you can't guess? Well, it was the presence of genial, big, little Comrade Walter Thomas Mins, who had been the speaker before the club the previous evening and had to stand on a chair to see over the heads of his audience when they were sitting down. Some one had remarked that if that rule had always been in force. Mills never would have marked that if that rule had always been in force. Mills never would have been let out of school. None appeared to enjoy the joke any better than Comrade Mills. Mrs. Kelley is an earnest speaker, whose life is absorbed in her work of saving the children of the country from the worst features of the hell on earth produced by the fierce competition of the profit system and private ownership of the means of life.

Mr. Davis, the present factory inspector

Mr. Davis, the present factory inspector of Illinois and successor of Mrs. Kelley, then told of his experience in the work of attempting to enforce the child labor laws in this State. He admitted the correctness of the statement of Mrs. Kelley that Illinois was behind New York in the effectiveness of her child labor laws and the means of enforcing many of the amusing and instructive incidents connected with the work.

Mr. Davis told how his department was now being done by adults at a cost of from $1.25 to $1.40 per day. He showed that before this had been accomplished it was necessary to bring criminal indictments against some of the glass factory owners, as they paid but little attention to mere fines for disobeying the mandates of the child labor law.

NORTH SIDE TURNER HALL

All Party and Revolutionary Organizations Pledged to Participate, Good Speakers, Street Parade Planned

The Executive Committee have planned for a monster demonstration on Monday, Jan. 22, at 8 p. m., at North Side Turner Hall, 257 North Clark street, near Chicago avenue.

There will be a number of meetings held on Sunday in various parts of the city, all of which will plan for participation in this monster Russian demonstration meeting on Monday, Jan. 22, the anniversary of the day that our Russian the anniversary of the day that our brothers begged the "Little Father" for recognition, and were shot down in cold blood for their

It is expected at this meeting to gather up all the forces of the city and concentrate them at this hall, thus filling to overflowing the North Side Turner Hall, and making the streets to ring with the revolutionary songs of the proletaire of Chicago.

The West Side comrades will form for parade at Halsted and Randolph, and at 7:25 march in a body with banners to corner of Randolph and La Salle, where the procession will be joined by the South Side comrades, thence north on Clark, where the North Side contingent will "fall in" at Clark and Kinzie. From that point the entire procession will march with flags flying and banners unfurled to the hall, singing revolutionary songs and keeping step to the martial tunes of militant Socialism.

The speakers will be Steadman, Morgan, Simons, Sissman, Smiley and others in Russian and Jewish language. A collection will be taken to aid the Russian revolutionists, every penny of same except cost of hall rent, being thus pledged.

Every party organization in the city is urged to plan at once for attendance in a body. Let us make this occasion such an eye-opener as will serve notice on the financial czars of America that there is something in the Revolutionary blood of America more potent than merely throwing tea into the Boston harbor, or tossing the yoke of King George into oblivion. Let us prove our fitness to cast off the tyranny of the exploiter by organizing for political conquest of America in the name of the workers, the producers of all

Up and doing. The hour has come in America for a new Declaration of Independence. Let us make this occasion the hour that shall signal its entry. Twenty thousand people should be in the procession on Monday night, Jan. 22, 1906.

Suppose that the capitalist class kept the whole means of production always it operation up to their full and eve in the whole means of production always in operation up to their full and eve increasing capacity, and, further, suppose that the present ratio of consumption remained the same, what would happen? Why, this: The world would become so glotted with the unconsumed products of labor that it would become impossible within ten years for human beings to move on the surface of the earth, and move on the surface of the earth, and all the while millions of the very people who produced these things would be dy-ing for the want of them. All schemes of reform are founded on the false assumption that more production is wanted.

What is really needed is a greater effective demand from the real market the working class, by investing them with purchasing power in proportion to their production. Capitalism will not and cannot do this. Collective ownership and control and production for use can alone do this, and that is Socialism.—Swiney People.

WHAT REALLY TOOK PLACE.

A reporter of the Chicago Socialist started out to verify the truth of the newspaper report of the row at the Federation meeting Sunday. But all who were present laughed at the newspaper report of what took place and said that 35 per cent of it was pure imagination.

Miss Catherine Goggiu, one of the delegates to the Federation from the Teachers' Federation, was present fibroughout the meeting and gave the following account of what took place. When a Chicago Socialis, reporter called on Miss Goggin she stated that she was at the Federation meeting last Sunday from start to finism. She was shown the account of the meeting in one of the morning papers. She read the head lines printed above and laughed. She said: "Well, that is the first I have heard the news columns of our daily papers.

Miss Goggin then told just what she saw and heard at the meeting. She stated, "that Vice President McCracken called the meeting to order and that of the called the meeting to order and that of the the prear for the Federation election. CIALIST PARTY?

The Chicago Socialist goes every week to several thousand persons who are favorable to Socialism, but do not belong to the organized Socialist party. All of these ought to join the organization. To carry out our principles, it is necessary to have a large, well disciplined, and self-governing body of Socialists to conduct the year-cound campaign. Our party is not run by leaders. It is not controlled from above nor financed from above. That is why it keeps to the right path-because it depends on its organized rank and file for guidance and for support.

If YOU are a Socialist, we want YOU. It is your DUTY to join, to do your little part in the work, to contribute your little share to the expense, and to exercise your equal influence in selecting the party's candidates, framing its platforms, controlling its officers, and directing its whole polley.

DISCUSSION IMPORTANT AND

Comrade Debs' article, paprinted in last issue of Chicago Socialist, deserves carnest and serious consideration, as it touches points of vital importance that must be threshed out, the sooner the better. I feel that I have a word to any on the subject, and to avoid being misjudged or misinterpreted it is only necessary for me to swite that I have been Sary for me to state that I have been a consistant advocate of unity with the S. As to the position taken by Comrade Debs on "Hearstism" and its effect on the organized Socialist movement, there is hardly a Socialist but what will agree with him in his conclusions, but he raises two points that appear to him as a "source of weakness" and therefore necessarily a criticism. These two salient points deserve thorough elaboration. True it is that Socialist meetings and Socialist speakers have been disturbed by Socialists, and that personalities have been indulged in, but the "vulgar rows" commerce which the Muscovites have used so long in war. His is the program of that "coming slavery" which Herbert Spencer miscalled Socialism.

The Social Democrats in Russia, as much, combined with the fear that the never go backward to communal enrises, co-operative or otherwise; it

However, it is pleasing to note that a change of front has taken place. The Socialist party is now admitted to be a party of Socialism, honest but mis-guided. Differences of opinion are now being discussed free of rancor or per-sonality. This is symtomatic of pro-

Coming more directly to your question, as to whether I, my personal, identical, conscious self, shall continue to live after my body goes back to dust. I confess I do not know, nor do I know of any means of knowing, but as I, in that narrow examples as the state of the state of the property in the state of the part of the menlightened rank and of democracy implanted in the educational field will cause a stratification in the S. SOCIALISM AND DEMOCRACY. I may be mistaken, and I certainly hope I am, but it seems to me that there is a growing tendency in the Sothere is a party, especially within official circles, to distrust democracy. The opinion was freely expressed during the dision was revely expressed using the dis-cussions on the recent referendams con-cerning the election of the National Ex-scutive Committee and the National Sec-retary that a select body was more capa osing these than the entire.

This attitude was particu membership. This attitude was particu-larly in evidence among what might be called the "intellectuals" and the "bu-reancracy" of the party. Even those who defended the democratic side of the argument seemed to think it conclusive evidence against the referendum if it could be shown that more effective offi-cials would be above by the other cials would be chosen by the other volves treason to one of the most fun-damental principles of the Socialist move-ment. It by no means follows that if better officials could be chosen by a small body of "experts," that it would be to the best interests of the party to pursue this method. Efficiency which is purchased at the expense of democracy is a dear bargain.

Few errors are more subtle than this It is one to which the most faithful workers are prone. A committee or body of officials come to be especially familiar with some particular kind of work, when an approaching election threatens to sup plant them with what they believe to b ess competent persons. Two lines of conduct are open to them. One is slow, tiresome one of educating the mem-bership to a recognition and appreciation of the work and the workers who have done it; the other is the much easier and, for the moment, more effective way, of taking the power of interference from the membership. "Our familiarity with of taking the power of interference from the membership. "Our familiarity with the work makes us better able to judge than they, why should they be permitted to interfere?" is asked. "We know the individuals who are to be chosen as men bers of the National Executive Commi tee better than the rank and file, so we will choose them for the members," is much easier to say and to carry into effect, than to set about telling of the obscure individuals whom the member would overlook," although they are very efficient," and thereby assist in neating the members to the qualifications of these "unknowns." Incidentally I hant unknowns who have been chosen by the other method.

At bottom this is essentially the doc best of all governments." It is identical with the argument which defends an aristocracy because they have been aristocracy because they have been "trained to govern." It is a part of the bourgeois demand for "efficiency" as the essential in government ownership of in maintained that democracy was a falatter. That the worst democracy is preferable to the best despotism is a sound principle, or else the whole philosophy of Socialism is builded on the

This anti-democratic tendency grows rapidly. Already we see this at "dema-gogues," who "run democracy into the ground," while any insinuation that our onld form "cliques, benevolent rulers would for or "rings" is lese majeste.

However well meaning these good comrades may be who seek to save the party from its friends' in order that it may be run on efficient lines, they will soon find that such doctrines and methods do not fit in with the educational propagands of Socialism. Soon the leaven of the positivist in our ranks cannot with the burden. Besides, some of us solve the problem. New Jersey is at Lave never seen the documents with the ready debating the question, likewise divine seal attached, certifying to your several local organizations. But after capacities, and we may have our doubts. capacities, and we may have our doubt A. M. SIMONS.

FARWELL ANSWERED.

FARWELL ANSWERED.

The following is at reply to an article by John V. Farwell in the "Bettle Ground of Modern Thought," printed in the Record-Heraid of last Sanday. This the article in question attracted consideranie attention is evident by the number of letters received at the office of the Chicago Socialist calling attention to it. The one thing that Mr. Farwell demonstrates beyond a shadow of doubt in his article is that he has no conception of what Socialism means and appears to have very little conception of the meaning of words or their relation to each other. It appears from Mr. Farwell's article that he got his knewledge of Socialism from the editorials of the Chicago Chronicie.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 8, 1968.

We meet with many surprises in life, and after a time we get used to some very heavy jolts; but in last Sunday's Record-Herald the jolt was so unusually severe that I shall reply, though as a rule I go bumping along regardless of the bumpy way.

Mr. Farwell raps Socialism—or that is the heading of the paragraph in his as-the heading of one paragraph in his ar-ticle. "Raps Socialism." Well, maybe he does, but he didn't in that paragraph, he does, but he didn't in that paragraph. he does, but he didn't in that paragraph, nor in any other one that I saw in print. He raps away at something, but it is not Socialism, for his writing indicates very plainly that he does not know what Socialism is, else he would not class it as anarchy and as a twin devil to bad government in Furnace. The "dividing no" ernment in Europe. The "dividing up" process that so many of Mr. Farwell's class are alarmed at is not any part of the Socialistic doctrine, but is capital-istic; they (the capitalists) are wanting the laborer to divide up the product of his toil with them, while they do nothing but deal in arithmetical problems of division and subtraction. The laboring man wants only the product of his labor. no dividing up. He can get along with out the capitalist, but the capitalist can't get flong without the inborer. The capitalists' dollars attached to shovels and other tools will not build railroads, but aborers attached to the tools can build anything, and then the capitalist gets the result of their labor, and that sort of "dividing up" is going on all around us to-day, but Mr. Farwell overlooks that Mr. Farwell advises young men to study history in statistics. They are and old ones, too, but they are arriving at entirely different conclusions from Mr. Farwell's. When laboring men Mr. Farwell's. When laboring men month after month, practicing the most rigid economy, living on food entirely different from what enters Mr. Farwell's kitchen, living in rooms poorly light of and ventilated, and then at the end of the month to have nothing but history in statistics," for they know all about them; they are making them

The "Brotherhood of Man" and "Fathechood of God" are far away cries to the man who toils but to twelve hours in a paper-box factory. She was without money, and that who do not toil got the results of his labor. The "Fatherhood of God" and "Brotherhood of Man" sounds all right. but it works a little rusty, although it's the absolute impossibility of personal clean of decourt of decourts of decourts of decourts of decourt of decourts of decourts of decourts of decourts of decourts of decourts of decourts. daily, year after year, and sees others, who do not toll get the results of his labor. The "Fatherhood of God" and been in use nineteen hundred years.

Socialism is not a twin usvil to anything; in fact, it is not a twin at all. but it's the only child of economic and that is good and pure and peaceful in the world to-day.

Socialism is a scientific economic the-ory that demands the public ownership and control of the means of production and distribution. Study it, reason about it, and then if you cannot understand it and believe in it, don't blame us. We didn't make you.

J. S. CROW, M. D.

If there is war between France and of mere is war between France and Germany over the Morocco relations it will be in spite of every effort of the Socialists of both Germany and France. The Socialists of both countries know that the working men will be the ones that the working men will be the ones to get killed to no purpose. Socialists are not adverse to fighting if it is necessary, but they want to fight, if they must fight, for the privilege of living on the earth as free men. Socialists know that the working men of the different countries have no cause to fight each other. They also know that the working class of each country must sooner or later, in one form or another, fight the class war to a finish and abolish the parasite class, either by externinating them asite class, either by exterminating them or making them go to work and produce their own living.

document. It contains the working out of a problem. Here is a young woman, clean and wholesome, thrown upon the world friendless in New York City. There is nobody to help her. She must depend upon herself.

What will this roung woman do? How will she go about it? What will happen to her? This is the problem that was faced by the young woman who wrote "The Long Day." Homesick and lonely, with only a small sum of money between her and destitution, she found herself in a cheap boarding house.

The girl was 18 years old and practically penniless. There was nothing ab-stract about her problem, nothing difficult of comprehension. First, she must work or starve. Second, she must find the kind of work upon which she would not starve, for there were many working in New York City, who starved at the same New York City who starved at the same naked, killed with their hands and drank ed his meat, caught his fish, picked his berries, or scratched the ground in spare moments and planted seed. But it is different in the modern world. The modern world is cultured and civilized and very complex. So complex is it that something interposes between work and the individual who wants work. An inrry. But work is done by machin-and machines do not grow on es. Machines are owned, and behungry. fore the hungry individual can go to work he must get permission from the owner of a machine

After all, the mere getting of work she did not find difficult. The trouble lay in getting work the wage of which would keep her alive. Two dollars and a half a week was the wage offered by the men who were willing to let her paid a dollar for her room, this would leave her a dollar and a half with which to buy food, pay car fare, keep herself clothed and have a good time. So she tried to find a machine th owner of which paid a better wage order to make her last several dollars hold she began to ill-treat her body by starving it.

"Bread and butter and black coffee Bread and butter and black coffee for breakfast, bread and butter for lunch, bread and butter for supper—this was my daily menu for the weeks that followed, varied on two occasions by the purchase of a half pint of molasses, At last she was compelled to take what offered—$3 a week, while learning.

cleanliness and of decent raiment. For remember, soft and tender reader, there are single blocks in New York City in which live five hundred babies, to say nothing of men and women, and in which there is not a single bath tub. And remember that dirt is degradation and a sin against the flesh.

For sufficient reasons the author left be paper-box factory. She got a joh at making artificial flowers at $3.50 per week. Here she worked a month, and here the long day ran on into the night. Then the author got work in a steam laundry, shaking out the napkins and garments as they came from the steam wringer. Her wage was $3.50 per week, while learning, $4 when she had learned.

Here is a true book. It is a human ocument. It contains the working out that the author had passed into that f a problem. Here is a young woman, condition which is familiar to all who lean and wholesome, thrown upon the superinduced by physical misery—a mer-ciful sub-conscious condition of apathy, in which my soul as well as my body had taken refuge when torture grew unbearable."

And all this for $3.50 per week, $4 when she had become a skilled hand!
And here ends "Th Long Day." It is a record of conditions of which we Americans can scarcely be proud. It is a record to be read by the ten thousand a record to be read by the ten thousand millionaires who live in New York City. It is a record to be read by every pat-riotic American who sings "My Country, Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty," and who thinks that the United States cannot be improved upon. And it is a record to be read by every person who is not a coward and who is unafreid to face the truth.

And, having read the book, let every day, penis 30,000,000 horse-power. Engineers com-pute each horse-power as equivalent to the work of eight men. Here is energy eight times greater than that pos by the naked savage. Who will dare to say that the working girls of New York City, tens of thousands of them, are eight times more comfortable and happy than the naked savage? And who will dare to say that at least they are as comfortable as the naked savage?

MASTERS AND SLAVES.

The exploiting capitalist is the econ ic master and the political ruler in capi-talist society, and holds the exploited wage worker in sovereign contempt. No master ever had any respect for his slave, and no slave ever had or ever could have any real love for his master —Eugene V. Debs.

The Social Democratic Aldermen of Racine in the last meeting of the City Council introduced a resolution looking towards municipal ownership of the Ra-cine water works. The plan of the So-cial Democrats is, first, that the City Council appoint a committee to confer with the owners of the local water works system and ascertain the price at which they would sell the works at the expira-tion of their franchise; secondly, to submit to the people the question of buying or building municipal water works, this be voted upon at the next-municipal election in April this year, and thirdly, that a two mill tax on all taxable property be levied for this purpose. Of course, the old party Aldermen oppose measure in toto.

The Milwankee Wisconsin, Republican, says that "two separate political conferences have been held within the past few days with the idea of organizing a citizens' movement for the spring campaign to oppose the Social Democrats in the city election. Democrats, stalwarts, and half-breeds took part in one of the gatherings. The business men of the city do not want the Social Democrats to carry the city next spring, and from the outlook at present they acknowledge that there is danger of that result. Rather than run the risk of turning the city over to the Socialists, they want to for get for the time belog their jealousies and differences and unite on a man whose character and influence will be a guarantee against any political or factional schemes and who will administer the affairs of the city in a business-like way." We thought we should drive the two old parties together, but did not ex-pect that desirable result quite at this stage of the game.

WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES.

In the Saturday Evening Post of Jan.
6 Mr. J. Ogden Armour publishes an article on the subject of the private freight our system. In this article Mr. Armour gives a brief history of the private freight car and how it came into existence. He shows conclusively that it evolves mainrally out of the necessities of the developing ment industry. the developing meat industry.

Mr. Armour says that the refrigerathan it was to ship live stock on we now. He says that 'on the one hand, in the prairies of the West was the natural hash for almost unlimited expansion for the growing of cattle at the minimum growing of cattle at the minimum cost. On the other hand, cities and he more thickly settled sections of the Bast and the South were calling for this meat from the prairies. The expense of shipping cattle from the West to the sanppang cattle from the West to the ast was practically prohibitive, so far the natural growth of the cattle indus-r was concerned. The hour had struck the great sconomic and industrial ep. Then appeared the first crude

Armour states that, properly a refrigerator car at all, but simply city in contact with it. He describes e evolution of this crude attempt at liding refrigerator cars through its vakers after it became evident that they e a success, and that the only way packing companies could secure re-cerator cars was to build them them-

Armour then gives the reasons why a impracticable for the railroad coming the state of the railroad coming the railroad coming the state of the printers will have given place to sand for refrigerator cars, but that it said never pay a Southern railroad to the printers will discipline and organization. And where the workers ever gain all cars to carry this fruit to marker anything, either on the economic field or anything either on the economic field or on the political battle ground, it will be because they have learned to organize.

and that this is the growers fight for a chance to do business at a profit. All of the cuaning at the command of these uses is focussed on the one purpose of assessing everywhere the impression that the private car system is an octopus that is stranging the fruit-growing industry. What are the facts in the case? The growers are salisfied with the private car, with its service and with the system, which they recognize has been the higmen are going the way of an organs that no longer have any function to perform. The struggle at present, which is at-tracting so much attention, is that be-tween the great capitalists, who control the trusts, and the small dealers and middle class men who are being sque ed out of existence. The workers as ed out of existence. The workers as a class are not worrying much as to the personnel of their masters. They do not get skinned any closer by a trust than they did by a lot of little competing em-ployers. In the meantime it will be in-teresting to watch Armour Co, put the commission men out of business. After that it will be in order for the real wealth producers to take possession of all the means of life and make them the collective property of all the people. Unall the means of life and make them the collective property of all the people. Un-til this is done, we can expect little re-lief from our present conditions. The nation must own the trusts.

It now begins to look as though the secure the shorter working day for which they inaugurated the general strike in the book and job shops Jan. 1. Reports from all parts of this country and Can-ada indicate that it will not be long be-fore the strike will be won in the great majority of the shops.

The printers have a splendid organization that it has taken many years to build up. The fact that they are able to build up. The fact that they are able to levy an assessment of 10 per cent on the wages of those at work and have so perfected their organization that the money can be handled without any scandaious graft charges is the secret of their power to hold out against the Typothetae power to hold out against the Typothetae organization. It is estimated that the organization. It is estimated that the proceeds from the 10 per cent assessment levied upon the members who are at work will smount to $60,000 per week. There has been little change in the situation in Chicago since the first of the year. The Polish printers have been conceded the eight-bour day and are to arbitrate the point as to whether they are to reside the same two was for eight are to receive the same pay for eight hours as they did formerly for nine. The struggle of the workers for better conditions is a long and bitter one. But inch by inch the toilers are gaining. Slowly but surely they are learning to use their united power. The time is not far distant, measuring time in a historithe cars and, as soon as there is no more call for them in one locality they can use them in another.

Mr. Armour makes out a strong case for the privately owned refrigerator system under existing conditions and probably very largely tells the truth when he warps "the fact of the matter is that the wither agrainst the private refrigerator car system originated with the commission men of the country and not with the growers. These middle man are the manipulators of the came. pairs that is being prosecuted for the eximplement of the first specific process. With Washington, D. C., as a center, these commission mean are pushing an extensive propaganda, hassed on the cry that the grower is being expressed by the private car lines and extat this is the growers' fight for a diameter to do business at a profit. All that "nobody dreams that all men can be equal in wealth or culture or even opportunity, but they can be a good deal more equal than they are." The preach or takes Mr. Carnegie and other rich men to take for doing business on strict business principles, that is, buying labor at the market price, regardless of the profit he is making. He says, "Mr. Carnegie's laborers always worked for the market price. They got in his mills just exactly what they would have got in the mills where the proprietor was not _st.

the private car system is an octopus that the private car, system is an octopus that its atrangling the fruit-growing industry. What are the facts in the case? The growers have been in the past.

What are the facts in the case? The growing industry. What are the facts in the case? The growers have been in the past.

It is present proposertion and stability, and in opening to them the markets of the entire country. This, I repeat, is not the fight of the growers but of the commission men."

We are inclined to believe Mr. Armour is in the main correct when he says that it is the commission men ritile or than the fruit growers who are ruising all this howl about privately owned property as the cars owned by railing all this howl about privately wined property as the cars owned by hamour & Co. or other private refrigerator car companies, and now that they have perfected the facilities for shipping fruit from orchards they are beginning the task the place of the commission merchants, at whose mercy the fruit growers have been in the past.

It is only another case which is demonstrating that the middle man no long or has any function to perform in selicity when a trust in any line of business has become fully developed.

As Socialists we are naturally against the private ownership of all the means of geoduction and distribution, whether it is railroads or refrigerator cars, but we also realize that the day of the small capitalist and of small things in general the grivate ownership of all the means of geoduction and distribution, whether it is can oll trust, as an including that the charch has perceived by the growers have been in the past.

It is only another case which is demonstrating that the middle man no long or has any function to perform in seciety when a trust in any line of business, for the people to rise in their might commission merchants, the commission of refrigerators cars, but we also recalize that the day of the small capitalist and of small things in general the private ownership of all the means o port of the activity and proceedings of the said bureau.

INTERNATIONAL SOCIALISM

The International Socialist Bureau has not had any sessions since the adjournment of the Amsterdam Congress. Whatever business was transacted by the bureau since that time was transacted by correspondence in a manner similar to that its which the business of our National Committee is being conducted. Aside from some necessary routine work of the bureau, the following three matters of general interest to the international Socialist movement were acted upon by the bureau;

by meetings, demonstrations, resolutions, and, above all, by the collection of funds, and the International Socialist movement responded to the calls spontaneously and generously. The increasant agitation of Socialists outside of Russia has certainly had a powerful indusence in the formation of the general public sympathy for the Russian revolutionists in Europe and America, and has no doubt had a deterrent effect upon any inclinations of foreign powers to intercede in the internal affairs of Russia in favor of the tottering autocracy; and if our comrades in Russia needed any stimulus for their heroic struggles, they certainly found it in the aympathy of their brethren all over the world.

The material support which the Socialists of the world gave to their couracies in Russia was of probably still greater importance than the moral support. The international Socialist Bureau as such has within the last few months distributed among the various revolutionary parties in Russia, impartially, a very considerable sum of money, and almost every Socialist organization on both hemispheres has contributed to the war fund of the Russian Socialists, repeatedly and ilberally.

Of course, the needs of a movement see such that no amount of money is sufficient. The contributions of Socialists for Russian Socialists under present conditions, are such that no amount of money is sufficient. The contributions of Socialists for the imminent victory of their cause in Russia have therefore not abated. On the contrary, they are on the increase, and the American Socialists should make it a point of ambition not to be the last on the list of the supporters of the great cause. The present struggles of the Russian Socialists and the supporters of the great cause. The present struggles of the Russian Socialists and the supporters of the great cause. The present struggles of the Russian Socialists and the supporters of the great cause. The present struggles of the Russian Socialists and the supporters of the great cause. The present struggl shop and the sweating system and should be opposed by all the power that organized labor has at its command. But these are the conditions engendered by the competitive system where profits are the only incentive for producing wealth. When this mad and insane rush for gain is replaced by a sane desire to make life a thing of beauty and joy, can you imagine any printer or molder or other craftshan objecting to any number of boys learning to assist them in their work?

It is competition that breeds the shams and forces those who are employed to go the pace that kills to hold the job.

We call upon all workers to investigate what Socialism stands for and what said and represented by the acety established per Tree of the outbreak in the affairs of the Socialism the affairs of the Socialism to every other country, with a vietory of Socialism in every other country. The last and schisms and the stands of the socialism to every other country, with a vietory of Socialism in every other country. The last and schisms of the Socialism to every other country, with a vietory of Socialism in every other country. The last and so the stands of the Socialism in every other country. When the affairs of the Socialism that or ganization is that or ganization for the purposes of the overt revolution in Russia. We have of strengthening that or ganization for the purposes of the purposes of the socialism in every other country. When the affairs of the Socialism is also had occasion to laterative of the Socialism to extend the affairs of the Socialist Bureau has labeled as look advects of the Socialism in the affairs of the Socialism that organization in Russia with a serie of the country and schisms. A supplied of the Socialism to every of the Socialism to every contract the affairs of the Socialism that organization in Russia chelistics in the affairs of the Socialism to every contract the country has been one of continuous splits and schisms. A spring of Democracy in Russia, Conrade Piechanoff, and represented by the magazine "fakra," and the other hended by Comrade Lenin, and represented by the newly established paper, "The Proletarian."

Immediately after the split was definitely accomplished, the International Socialist Bureau, upon motion of Comrade, Pebel, offered its good services to effect a secondilation and amalgumation of the two factions. The offer was accepted by both sides, and as late as October last negotiations for unity between the two Social Democratic factions were in active progress. The chances are, however, that the recent events in Russia have effected the desired unity between all Russian Socialists without the intervention of any outside methum. At any rate, the Socialists in Russia act in perfect accord and union on all masters, and the Socialist party in Russia in intedial in fact, if not in name.

THE MODE OF REPRSENTATION IN INTERNATIONAL CONVENTIONS AND ON THE INTERNATIONAL

tation to two factions of the party, where such factions existed. At the same time, the International Rureau was established as the executive organ of the international Socialist movement, and each country was allowed two delegates or secretaries on bureau. At the last international Congress held at Amsterdam, some objections were related against this grater of representaallowed two delegates or secretaries on burean. At the last international Congress held at Amsterban, some objections were raised against this system of representations. It was pointed out that the international conventions and bureau did not properly express the sentiment and attitude of the Socialist movement at large, if the vote of an insignificant country with a Socialist movement Just in its infancy, should be allowed to have as much weight, and, in some cases, to neutralize, the vote of a country like Germany, i. e., with its three million Socialists; and while it was recognized that a perfect system of proportional representation is impossible in the international conventions and on the buteau in view of the fact that it is more than difficult to find a proper test of the representative strength of the Socialist movement in different countries, it was the general understanding that a more equitable system of voting should be devised for future conventions and for the bureau. With that object in view, the bureau appointed a sub-committee to chaborate and ashould a more satisfactory plan of voting. The sub-committee, through Conrade Van Kol, thereupon submitted a motion in substance to the effect that the voting in conventions be readjusted by giving to the various nations different numbers of votes, on the scales of 2 to 6, according to the countries, the number of votes of each country to be determined by the bureau. To this motion pour representative made the following amendment: "Where the Socialists of a recurrent representative made the following amendment: "Where the Socialists of a recurrent representative made the following amendment: "Where the Socialists of a recurrent representative made the following amendment: "Where the Socialists of a recurrent recurrent secretaries of the countries, the number of votes of each country to be determined by the bureau.

countries, the number of votes of each country to be determined by the bureau. To this motion your representative made the following amendment: "Where the Socialists of a country are represented at an international congress by two or more parties, the number of vetes allowed to the country shall be distributed among such parties in proportion to their respective strength and standing. The distribution shall be made in the first instance by the delegation from such country, but in case of a disagreement, the decision shall be left to the bureau."

In making this amendment I gave the following reason for the ame: "I believe that the vote of an international congress should express the will of the majority of the organized Socialists of the world as nearly as possible, and just as we are endeavoring to do justice to the different nationalities among themselvan we should do justice to each organization within the nationality. The motion was subsequently further amended by giving to each member of the bureau the number of votes which his party would be entitled to cast in convention.

The motion and various amendments are

The uncertainty of time when the County will pay seems to make this necessary. Of the several vouchers held by the Secretary for payment, same will be cashed at this rate, if parties will so notify the Secretary.

ORGANIZATION WORK

The result of the division organization work in the city is progressing to such an extent that the organization committee is of the opinion that the time has now arrived for the first skirmish.

It is expected that each division at its session on Jan. 21 will be given a full supply of precinct canvassing books, registered voters lists and ward maps, and that ward and district chairmen will rapidly prepare three books for canvassing the control of the c and that ward and district chairmen was rapidly prepare three books for canvasa-ing. In each precinct book will be in-serted all the names of the registered voters of that precinct. In proper col-umans will be provided space for checking off the political affiliation of each of the voters. When this task has been convoters. When this task has been com-pleted by the quota of precinct captains, then all such names as are friendly to the all such names as are friendly to our cause will be invited to attend a meeting in the district for the purpose ward officers and district chalrmen, and appoint full list of precinct captains. All of these officers and captains should be present at the next meeting of the di-vision in order to receive their quota of supplies and full instructions about how o proceed in closing up this preliminary call on our party for the very best kind of an organization. Good, careful plan-ning now will do much to lessen the bur-den of detail work that shall have to be At the session of the organization com mittee on Monday very encouraging re-ports were made from all of the divis-ions except the seventh. All wards seem to be getting in line except the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Eighth, Twenty-eighth and part of the Thirty-third. The prospects seem bright that each of the above will soon get their affairs shaped for efficient

The organization committee will meet on the second and fourth Thursdays hereafter, the next meeting taking place on Thursday, Jan. 20.

There now remains for each division and its several officers to bend every en ergy, closing up the weak places and a lining up of the forces for the work in Ward and district chairmen hand. Ward and district chairmen should begin to get maps and outlines of precincts in full readiness for the work in hand. Know every inch of your territory and every detail of the work to be accomplished.

JOTS FROM THE EDITOR'S NOTE BOOK.

Comrade Gaylord Wilshire spent a couple of days in Chicago last week. Comrade Wilshire says that he is unable to understand how the Canton comrades could place such an interpretation on his Hearst editorial in Wilshires for December as was expressed in their resolution printed in the Chicago Socialist last week. He says there was no such last week. He says there was no such iast week. He says there was no such intention in his mind when he wrote it. We believe, however, that the article did leave such an impression on the minds of many comrades. Comrade Gny Miller is spending a few weeks in Chicago and is putting in his time studying and filling his mind with effective ammunition for his next agita-

Wood Simons has started the term for 1906 under the most auspicious circumstances. The class for the first week had an attendance of over twenty-five. Do not forget that Jack London will lecture under the auspices of the Socialist party Sunday, Jan. 28, at 2:30 p. m. His subject will be the social revolution. Don't fail to hear him. Bring your unconverted friends. Jack has a way of proclaiming the Socialist gospel all his own.

If you are looking for a pleasant evening of sociable recreation, drop in at the ing of sociable recreation, drop in at the Third Ward headquarters any Saturday evening at 3517 State street. The Saturday evening socials given by the Third Ward comrades are becoming more popular every week.

Don't forget to push the sale of Chi-cago Socialist sub cards.
